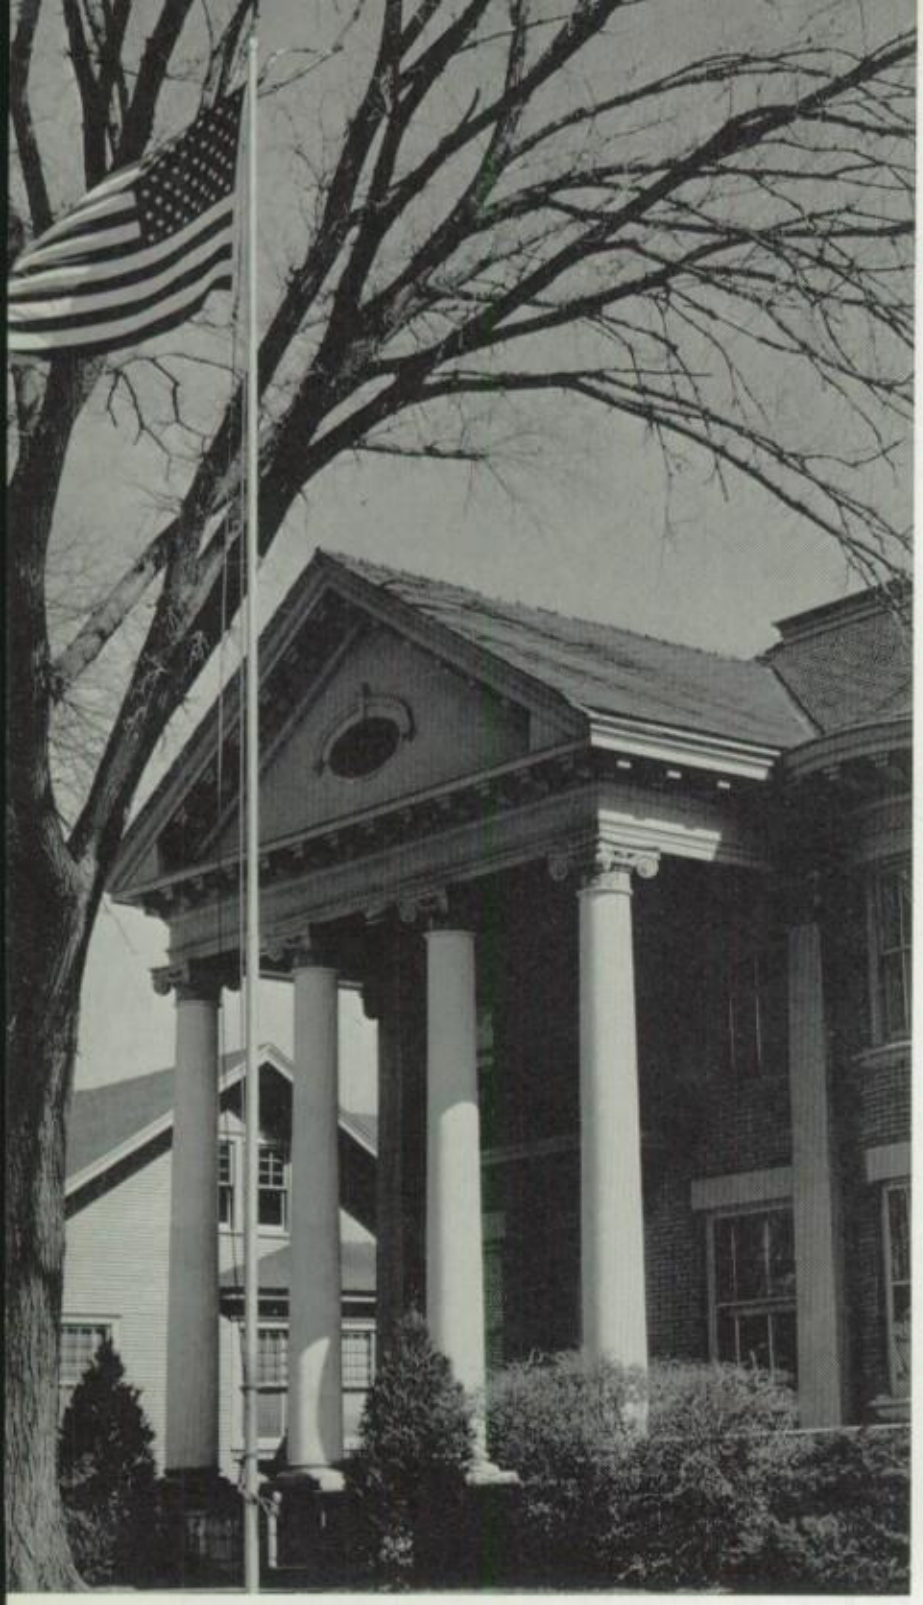
CURRICULUM



Administration Building

Board Of Education

The Board of Education is a unique and important organization in the community. It constitutes one of the most significant and greatest stabilizing forces in the nation. To the board is entrusted the responsibility for planning for the educational welfare of children, and thus for the future of the country.

It is the responsibility of the Board of Education to establish broad policies for effective operation of the educational program and then to evaluate the program in light of these policies.

The progress of the Springfield schools in these times of tremendous growth and changing demands of society is truly a compliment to the performance of our Board of Education.

These men give generously of their time and energies in working for the best interests of those whom the schools are designed to serve. In rendering this service, they serve without remuneration. Although they ask only for cooperation, their sincerity, hard work, and sound judgment have merited the appreciation of all citizens in the community.

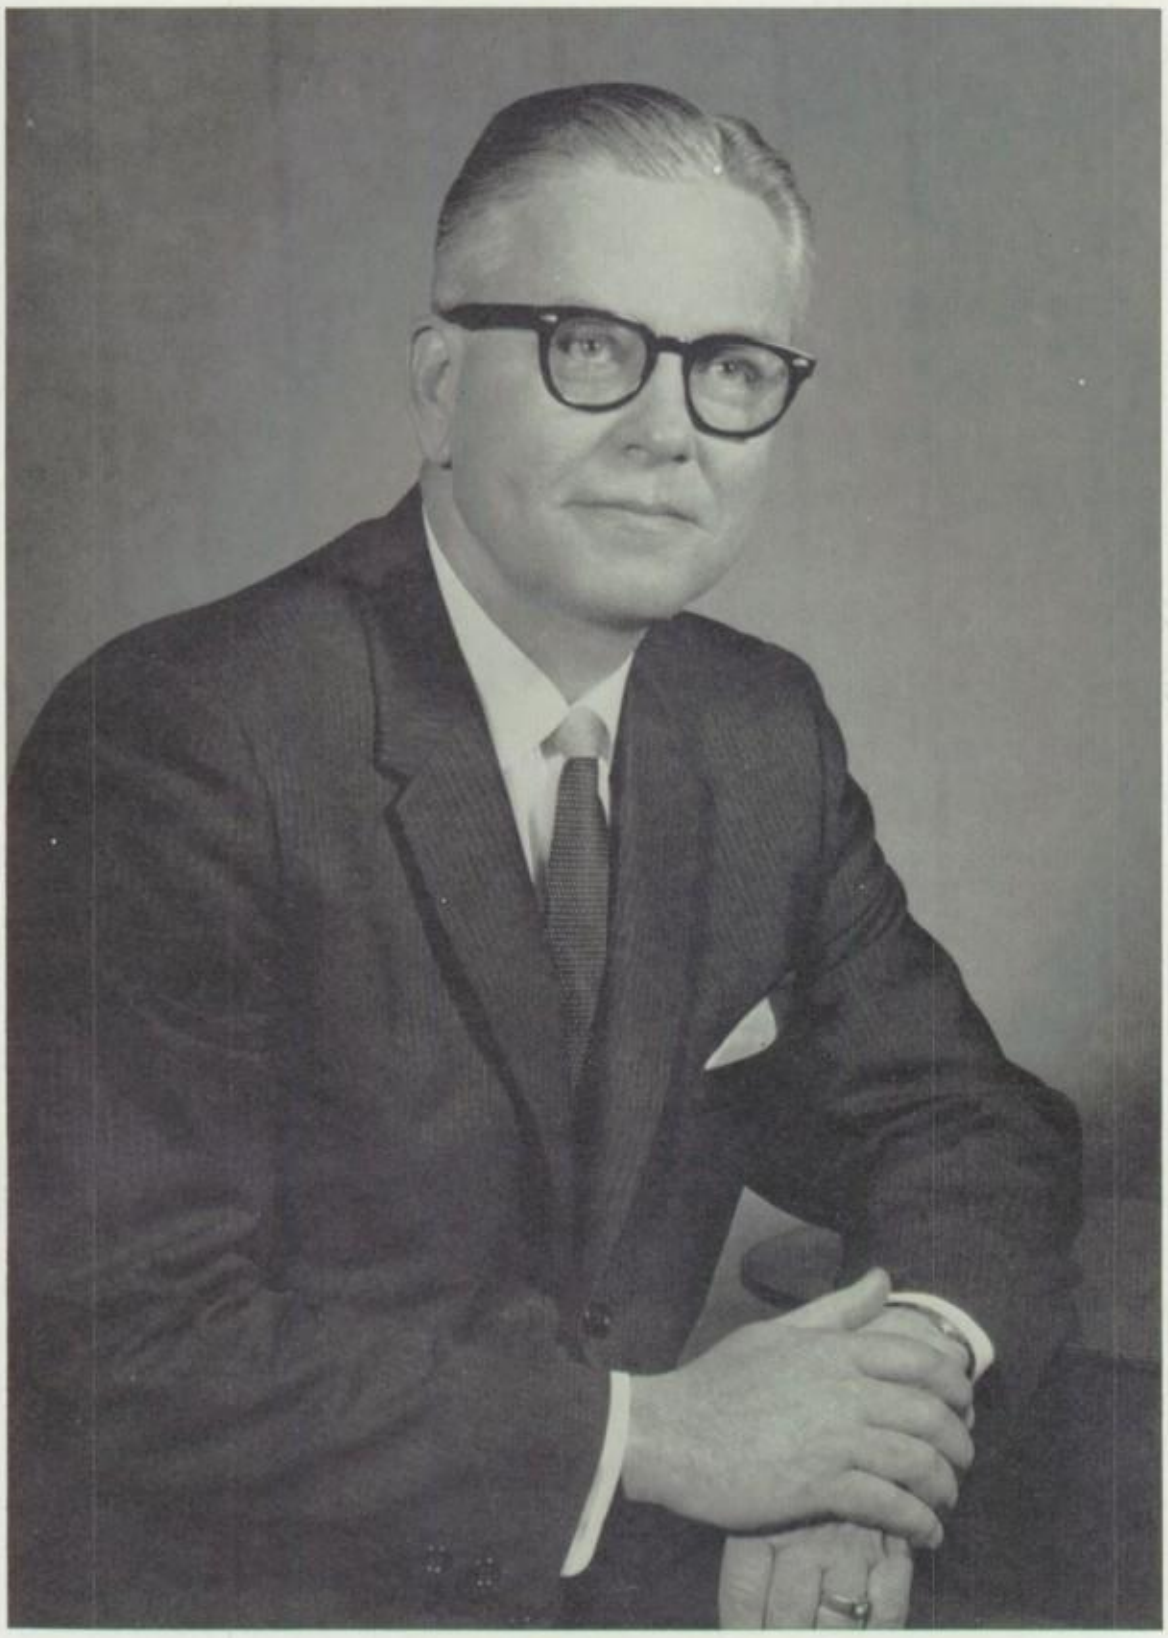
Administration Plan For Educational Opportunities



WILLARD J. GRAFF
Superintendent of Schools

The Superintendent of Schools serves as the executive officer for the Board of Education and as its chief administrator of the school system. He is a teacher. He counsels with and advises the Board of Education. He represents the school personnel in professional and welfare matters in dealing with the Board of Education and in the community. His position requires that he exert educational leadership, state his educational point of view clearly in the community, and lead in the improvement of instruction without fear of criticism and with confidence in his position.

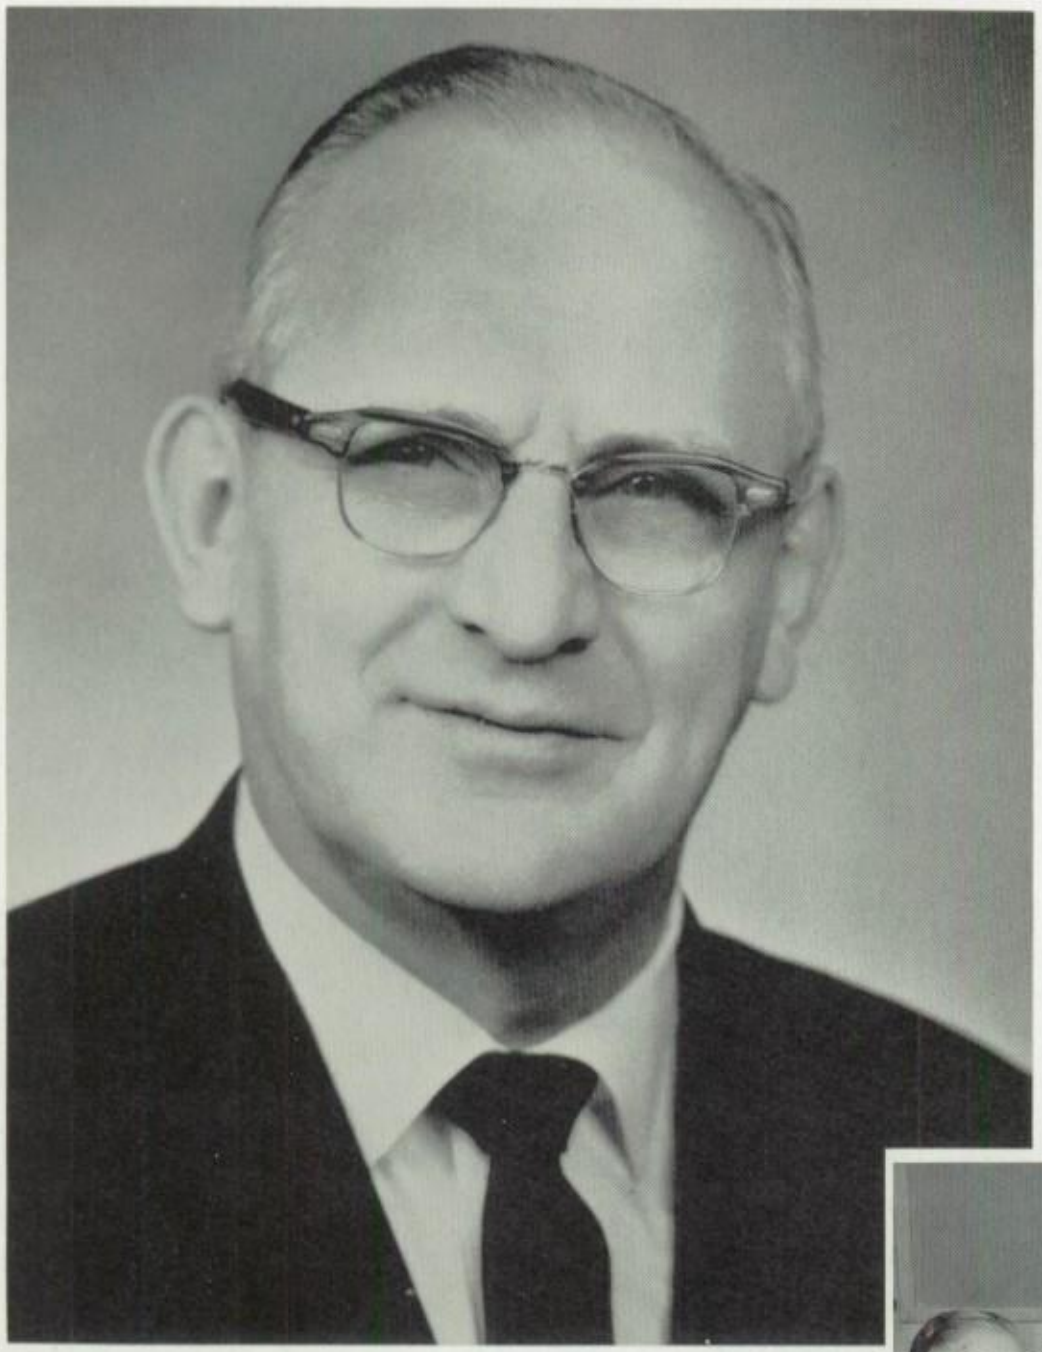
Superintendent Graff has occupied the office of the superintendent during the past twelve years in which time the school system has experienced more growth and adjustment to change than was experienced in all of its previous history.

He continuously relates one basic consideration to any decision-making in which he is involved—"Will it improve the educational opportunities and experiences for the young people both present and future?"

ADMINISTRATIVE BOARD

ADMINISTRATIVE BOARD . . . Front Row: Mr. Homer Kesterson, administrative assistant, director of special education; Dr. Roy Litle, deputy superintendent for elementary education; Mr. Willard J. Graff, superintendent of schools; Dr. A. M. Alexander, deputy superintendent for secondary education; Dr. C. Benton Manley, assistant superintendent; Mrs. Hazel Ponder, supervisor of personnel records. Second Row: Mr. N. W. Patterson, safety officer and coordinator of driver education; Mr. Nova Nash, director of public information; Mr. David W. Berryman, director of vocational and industrial education; Mr. Tom Knight, director of building service; Mr. Kenneth Kraft, comptroller and director of business affairs; and Mr. John J. Sweeney, director of counseling and guidance services.

School Program Meets Community Needs.



DR. A. M. ALEXANDER
Deputy Superintendent for Secondary Education

The Deputy Superintendent for Secondary Education is delegated the responsibility for leadership in the administration of Springfield's junior and senior high schools. He serves in the areas of recruitment and assignment of certificated and clerical personnel, in the development and implementation of the curriculum, and in the supervision of instruction.

Serving in this position is Dr. A. M. Alexander who holds a baccalaureate degree from Southwest Missouri State College and master's and doctorate degrees from the University of Missouri. Dr. Alexander's previous experience includes that of Director of Curriculum for the Springfield Public Schools, senior high, junior high, and elementary administration, and that of classroom teacher at the elementary, secondary, and college level.

PRINCIPALS PLAN . . . Mr. Ralph Hamilton, Central principal; Dr. Joe Kuklenski, Parkview principal; Dr. Alexander; Mr. William Gist, assistant principal at Hillcrest; and Mr. James Ford, Glendale principal, spend many sessions together in planning the program for the senior highs.

TODAY'S MATH . . . A committee reviews some new mathematics textbooks with a view to possible adoption for the classrooms. Shown are Mr. Bob Brown, Parkview mathematics teacher; Mr. Levi Gerhart, Hillcrest mathematics coordinator; Dr. Alexander; Mr. Lowell DeBusk, Central mathematics coordinator; and Mr. Ed Rykowski, city-wide mathematics consultant. Mrs. Mabel Giboney, Glendale mathematics coordinator, was absent because of illness.

English Develops Expression . . .

UM, LET ME THINK . . . Creative expression takes much thought. Mrs. Charlotte Ellis, journalism instructor, and Harriet Twitty, Quill editor, ponder the structure of a news article.

English plays a large role in today's world. In these challenging times, it is more important than ever to be able to express one's ideas and opinions successfully. The English Department at Glendale strives to meet the student's needs in this most vital field.

In addition to the three required basic English courses, English composition, English literature, word study, fundamentals of speech, public speaking, dramatics, and journalism are offered as supplementary elective courses.

The objectives of these courses are to develop clear, organized, critical thinking, both oral and written, and to enrich each student's life by introducing him to his heritage of the world's great literature.

Foreign Language Vital . . .

It has become important for Americans to be able to meet with people of other nations and to communicate with them. Latin, French, and Spanish, each with its own objectives, are an important part of the curriculum.

The study of Latin attempts to show the indebtedness that the present world owes to ancient civilization for its patterns of government, art, law, medicine, and literature. It increases an understanding of those elements in English which are related to Latin.

Modern foreign languages have been designated as one of the three areas of study most vital to the national interest.

The primary object of French and Spanish is direct learning of the language as a means of communication. Skills of understanding, speaking, comprehensive reading, and writing are emphasized.

It is hoped that a deeper understanding of English is gained through the study of a foreign language.

FRIENDS ABROAD . . . Countries seem a little closer when Latin students like Stuart Sisk, Carson Crumley, Carol White, Pat Taliaferro, and Joyce Bowlin can participate in the People to People program and receive exchange material.

Social studies is the science of society or an examination of mankind as a whole.

It is a broad field and the objectives must be comprehensive so that students can interpret and evaluate information in order for it to be transferred into contemporary life.

The Public School System requires three courses in social studies. Citizenship is guided to make the student a more competent individual in the home, school, and community by helping him recognize his personal responsibilities.

The major objective of world history is to develop a clear knowledge of the past and future of our civilization.

American history is geared to emphasize the principles and background of our American democracy.

In a world grasping for freedom and yet oppressed by tyranny a modern conception of the right ends of human endeavor is a serious responsibility. This is the task to which an interpretation of the humanities is committed.

LET'S LEARN ABOUT RUSSIA . . . In world history Susan Lutz studies about Imperial Russia and relates it to common day problems.

Electives Further

GOTCHA YA . . . Jean Howard indicates the difficulty of lifting a weight with a stylus when the action is reversed by a mirror in an experiment in psychology. THE WORLD'S AN OYSTER . . . In world geography Jane Smith and Jim Blankenship observe the mountain ranges of the United States on the globe.

IT SO HAPPENS . . . Expounding on labor, one of the three primary factors of any economy, is Mr. Carl Thomas, economics instructor.

YOU WERE SAYING . . . Fully engrossed, Garry McMichael listens to comments about his report on newspapers by students in his American heritage class.

Awareness Of World

CONCENTRATE . . . In a study of human behavior in sociology Joe Matlock and Sue Lemons do an experiment in mental telepathy.

With an awareness that the required courses in history provide limited study of the social sciences and with a recognition of the need for a better informed populace, several elective courses are designed to meet this need.

American heritage was instituted for the first time this year and opened only to a select few senior students. It strives to study in depth certain aspects of American history through comprehensive examination.

American problems, economics, psychology, sociology, and world geography are gauged to further the appreciation for the social sciences by appealing to deviations in student interest.

Mathematics Aids In

Mathematics is preparatory for life's work. This is the age when there are very few jobs that don't require the knowledge of mathematics. In technical fields, it is essential to solve the world's problems.

Developing an appreciation of the structure of our number system, along with application, is an important part of the math courses. Mrs. Mabel Giboney, math departmental coordinator, stated, "The department tries to present a workable understanding of mathematics."

Each student can attain the level of mathematical competence which he needs to deal successfully with the problems of the future with the help of a good mathematical background.

General Math develops the ability and understanding necessary to solve common everyday problems of average competent citizens.

Algebra and geometry develop a basis for advance study in mathematics.

Trigonometry and math analysis help to make the mathematical processes meaningful rather than mechanical. They explain the "why" of doing the number system.

TIC-TOE-TOE, ANYBODY . . . Graphing an equation in geometry class are Carol White and James Brown.

The scope of science is to ascertain truth in every possible branch of knowledge. Observation and experiment are the means by which scientific theories are verified.

On the high school level, the aim is to learn the processes which enable students to evaluate critically existing knowledge, classify facts, and recognize their significance in relationship to human needs.

The program of studies must provide opportunities for all students, not just for those who plan advanced study.

Glendale tries to meet these various needs by offering courses in General Physical Science, Biology, Chemistry, and Physics.

Trains For Future Home Life

The home is the determining factor in the future of our democratic society. The home is responsible for our social, cultural, and economic history and standards. As long as the people of our community have good attitudes toward the home and family life, our community will continue to grow and prosper.

Therefore, home economics is a course which touches upon the everyday experiences of all home economic students. In the home economics course, a student prepares for individual parenthood and family life, students develop desirable human relationships, and students learn how to view their civic responsibilities intelligently at the local, state, national, and world level. Also, pupils learn such things as clothing and textiles, foods and nutrition, home and its furnishings, family management, child care, and home safety.

Today, we know that educational opportunities for strengthening and enriching the home and family living must be one of education's major goals. Home economics has unique and important educational contributions to make.

WILL IT BITE? . . . In Home Economics I, Melissa Mace cautiously peers at a partially cooked chicken.

Business Education Aids . . .

ONE, TWO, THREE, GO . . . Connie Nelson and Jan Buttram are busy with shorthand timings as Mrs. Gladys Mabary watches the clock.

The purpose of business education is to help students understand how business operates in order that they may be able to contribute to its general improvement. They learn that both producers and consumers are necessary in business and that certain limitations must be placed on business activities if our economy is to function smoothly.

In the business classes, students are provided an opportunity to study organization and operation of business in relation to the democratic forms of government. This is done to help them choose the right vocation.

Industrial Arts is the area of courses designed to give students training and instruction in creating designs and in construction of articles of metal and of wood.

General and advanced courses in woodwork, metalwork, drafting, and a general course in electricity are offered to the student.

The industrial arts courses teach students how to handle tools, give good experience in occupations, and offer avocation instruction.

At School And On The Job

Cooperative Occupational Education is a program which trains people for careers in retailing, wholesaling, and service establishment as well as in trade and industry. It is a partnership in which the owners and managers of business and the school work together to provide vocational training.

Each student attends school part-time and works part-time in a local business firm, receiving supervised work experience under actual working conditions.

The COE student also is enrolled in a one-hour course of instruction in the classroom. The instruction in this class is related to the kinds of occupations in which the students are employed.

Two hours of credit toward graduation are given in COE, due to the occupational experience gained and the classroom experience.

OVER AND AROUND . . . In a demonstration of the correct method of applying a splint to a broken leg, Chris Hildebrandt wraps Bob Powers' leg.

Driver's education classes at Glendale strive to instill in the students the proper attitudes and techniques of driving. The course features three phases of training: classroom, drivo-trainer, and on the street driving.

Classroom instruction teaches the student the proper attitudes of driving, the rules of the road, and traffic regulations.

The drivo-trainer phase of instruction gives the pupil training under simulated road conditions.

On the street driving in a dual controlled car gives the student actual driving experience under the watchful eye of an instructor.

The course also comprises a complete study of first aid.

The Fine Arts Enrich Lives

"NOW SING OUT, AND PRONOUNCE THOSE WORDS CLEARLY," says Mrs. Hall as she directs the Junior-Senior Choir.

Man's life is enriched and his scope of understanding is enlarged when, through fine arts, he learns to appreciate and benefit from the higher qualities of art and music.

The orchestra, choir and art departments walk hand in hand as they seek to help students develop their personalities through creative expression. The courses contribute to the aesthetic appreciation of each student, good citizenship, and a worthy use of leisure time.

Orchestra and choir help students acquire the skills that are necessary for superior standards of performance, help students become more discriminating listeners, and give students a means for expressing emotional feelings. Art points the way toward richer living, helps the student acquire a broader cultural outlook and wider horizons, while helping produce citizens of the future.

As mankind progresses, the fine arts will continue to enrich and warm our hearts, as we grow in its light.

"FELLOWSHIP THROUGH THE FINE ARTS," is the theme of this picture as a few of the Madrigal singers, some of the orchestra string players, and a few art people constructing stained glass windows, seek to promote co-operation and unity between the fine arts fields.

KEEPING BUSY ISN'T DIFFICULT . . . Mrs. Connie Sade is pictured exchanging student tickets. Gary Hessee is first in line followed by Susan Gahm, Vern Stearns, and Carol Jackson.

A valuable help to the efficiency of Glendale High School can be attributed to the secretaries, attendance clerks, cooks, custodians, and librarians.

Scheduling, preparation and organization of grade cards, the maintenance of permanent records, and the accurate account of club finances comprise the major areas of secretarial work.

Correspondence for the deans, all attendance records, and transportation reports are handled by the attendance clerks.

The cooks report to work at 7:00 a.m. in order to prepare lunch for the 1530 students enrolled in Glendale.

Maintenance of the building is the responsibility of the custodial staff.

Chief concern of librarians is developing good reading habits through the distribution of reading material.

Procedures Through Activities

Student Council gives students a chance to learn democratic procedures.

The Interim Committee initiated Glendale's "flying start" by organizing the groundwork for student activities. The Cabinet aided the student body president by assuming responsibilities in different areas. The Student Council helped attain a relationship of understanding and cooperation among the students and the faculty.

During the year each of the groups undertook projects to aid the school and the community.

Ever willing and ready to serve the students and faculty at Glendale is the Key Club.

During the initial year of activities at GHS, the Key Club's main function was to sell ribbons for the various athletic events, thus helping to boost school spirit. Key Club also aided in developing good character traits in its members while, at the same time, it helped to serve the school, community, and country.

Highlighting Key Club activities was the trip to the Missouri-Arkansas Key Club convention in St. Louis. Throughout the year the club was busy sponsoring the Vocational Clinic, collecting and delivering Christmas baskets for needy families, and planning the Student Leader Banquet, May 15.

Mr. Harold Deiker, assistant principal, and Mr. Russell King, dean of boys, were co-sponsors of the club.

COE Sets Goal For Future

Glendale Cooperative Occupational Education club establishes better relations between the school, employers, and students.

The COE club has participated in numerous projects and activities throughout the year. They have donated gift baskets at Thanksgiving and Christmas, contributed to the "Mr. Jenks Fund" and donated $5.19 per student to the United Fund which was $4.69 above the pupil quota.

Members attended the annual Employer-Employee banquet, the inner city COE party as well as their own "cook out." Climax of the year's activity was the state COE convention in Columbia, March 23, 24. Tommy Allen was the candidate for state Distributive Education student of the year. Three merchandise manuals and three job manuals were entered in competition at the convention. The pattern has been set for high accomplishments for future COE students.

Government In Model Assembly

The Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y program enables club members to become better acquainted with the state government. They prepare bills, cases, and elect delegates for the Model Assembly and Judiciary Program in Jefferson City.

Glendale Hi-Y was represented by one senator and representative. Tri-Hi-Y was represented by three representatives and two justices of the Supreme Court.

Seven cases were presented by the four high schools in the Tri-Hi-Y magistrate court. Of these seven only five were accepted for presentation. Glendale was especially pleased that they were able to win three out of the five cases. These trials were the first and hardest phase of the Model Assembly.

Under the guidance of their sponsors, Mr. James Bresee, Mrs. Almira Probst, and Mrs. Rose Northcutt, the members carried out the clubs' purpose "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian character."

EIGHTEEN IS OLD ENOUGH . . . John Harbin and Bill Montgomery discuss the bill proposing the lowering of the voting age to 18 to be presented by the Hi-Y chapter in Jefferson City. Members James Brown, Bob Dillard, Roddy Davis listen attentively.

The Future Homemakers of America is a professional organization for girls interested in home economics at a high school level. During the past year in FHA the Annual Mother-Daughter Banquet was the outstanding event of the club. Other activities of the FHA Club included a Pepsi party, floral arrangements, a pancake breakfast, and a city-wide banquet held in the spring.

FHA promoted a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfactions of homemaking. Emphasis was placed on the importance of worthy home membership. The club strived to provide wholesome individual and group recreation and to further the development of creative leadership in home and community life.

Through Lectures, Practice

The Future Teachers of America seek to study and to identify the qualities, traits, and aptitudes basic to successful teaching. They acquire an understanding of the history and development of our public schools and participate in pre-vocational activities which are both exploratory and developmental in nature.

Glendale's FTA student teaching program enabled students to go to grade schools here in Springfield and teach in the afternoon while receiving pay and credit. This year Linda Coe taught at Rountree, Janice Ballard at Eugene Field, and Jean Miller at Shady Dell.

FBLA Promotes Business Practice

Glendale was fortunate to become the 3000th affiliated chapter of Future Business Leaders of America, a national organization to promote a better understanding of business practices.

FBLA members participated in competition in district and national conventions. Chapter meetings stressed proper business dress and procedures and professional speakers enriched their programs.

Science, Nursing Stress Technical Skill

The Future Nurses Club of America has two main goals for its members. One is to give better understanding of the nursing profession and related fields; the other is to give service to the school, the community, and the nation.

Glendale's club gained valuable information concerning the nursing profession through its tour of St. John's, Red Cross, and the professional nurses who spoke at their meetings.

Throughout the year the girls kept in touch with Springfield's hospitals by making tray favors for the children's wards on all important occasions.

The Science Club provides an outlet for students interested in furthering their knowledge of science.

Assisting at the Southwest Regional Science Fair held at Glendale and a field trip to the Rocketdyne factory at Neosho highlighted the year for its members.

Cambridge Furthers English Literature

DOUBLE TOIL AND TROUBLE . . . Rehearsing "Macbeth the Knife," a satire of Shakespeare's Macbeth, for the Cambridge Society are Barbara Griffee, Allen Ambler, Jan Jones, Steve Aliber, Sue Rubert, and Angel Hortelano.

The Cambridge Society, open only to students enrolled in English Literature classes, is an extension of the basic classroom program. It allows students to explore further the material presented in the regular curriculum.

One of the purposes of the club is to attend, as a group, dramatic performances involving good literature.

In the spring the society edits a booklet, Vignettes, composed of writings solicited from the student body.

ANY MISTAKES? . . . Preparing a speech for future presentation are Mrs. Beverly Black, AFS sponsor, Allen Ambler, Angel Hortelano, Spanish foreign exchange student, and Jackie Ambler.

The American Field Service was organized in order to provide a basis for better understanding among countries and people.

Glendale's AFS student, Angel Hortelano from La Linea, Spain, certainly provided this basis.

Arriving here in August, he quickly adapted to his new environment. Living with Allen, Eric, and Jackie Ambler helped acquaint Angel with our customs and way of life.

It was only a short time until he was active in Student Council, Spanish Club, Safety Council, Cambridge Society, and Key Club.

When Angel returns home in July, he will leave behind many friends who will truly miss him, and will wish him great success and happiness at Seville University next year.

Journalism offers a wide variety of opportunities to the student. In addition to publishing a weekly newspaper, The Quill, and a yearbook, The Falcon, journalism students learn about types of print, layout, photography, methods of writing, advertising, and public relations.

The Quill and Scroll is a national honorary journalism society, rewarding students for their particular talents and achievement in the journalism field. The highlight of the year was the annual Quill and Scroll banquet.

Latin, French Study Aids Knowledge

Fun and knowledge are gained through the experience of learning a foreign language.

Latin Club members have gained knowledge of ancient Rome through viewing films and hearing talks by Mrs. Celia Williams, club sponsor, who has traveled to Europe.

Through her travels, Mrs. Williams has brought back many souvenirs of interest to the students.

The Latin Club has had speakers throughout the year. One meeting featured an archeologist from Central Bible Institute who showed films of the historical sites and discoveries of the Mediterranean world.

The highlight of the year was the Roman Banquet held in early spring. At the banquet students dressed in the Roman dress and dined Roman style.

The French Club offered students participation in many activities.

The club members participated in singing Christmas carols during the holiday season, singing at P.T.A., and celebrating Valentine's day by having a party with the Spanish Club. The club's outstanding event was the Premier de Mai Festival held in early May. The festival featured dancing and games.

Spanish, Art, Reading Create Informed

El Club Español, Glendale's Spanish Club, develops a greater appreciation of Spain and the Spanish-American countries by studying their civilization. The club promotes an understanding of the Spanish language and ways of life by viewing films and participating in colorful festivities.

Angel Hortelano, the American Field Service student from La Linea, Spain, added a delightful touch of Spanish enthusiasm to the club as its social chairman.

Highlighting the year was the El Club Español Banquet, March 31. The traditional Mexican hat dance and skits were performed by the students at the banquet.

UP AND DOWN . . . Plenty of fun and refreshments were in store for these students at a Spanish-French Valentine party.

Glendale's young art-lovers found companionship and numerous activities in the busy schedule of the art club this year.

The club attended the Southwest District Art Convention in Pierce City, Missouri, Saturday, March 21. Here they participated in group meetings, panel discussions, and witnessed art demonstrations.

A tour of the Nelson Art Gallery in Kansas City offered a chance for members to view exquisite art exhibits.

Bill Armstrong, a local artist, demonstrated various water color techniques, and Charles Lederer showed the members his skill with wood carvings.

Glendale's Library Club, the Literary Circle, enjoyed a tour through the Springfield Public Library's Shepherd Room which contains rare historical documents and books, many pertaining to Missouri's history.

The Literary Circle has been responsible for the management of the library display cases. This year the cases have helped to introduce students to various forms of literature and talents and unusual hobbies of Glendale students.

Drama Expands Imagination, Skill With

Drama is the combined imagination of countless individuals. Glendale's dramatics department, instructed by Mrs. Jerri Hemingway, has endeavored to expand for each dramatics student the imagination and the skill involved through plays, duet acting scenes, monologues, one-act plays, Thespian, skill in the use of make-up, pantomimes, poetry, and short story reading.

A wide range of activities has been presented to each dramatics student as part of his introduction to the fascinating life of the theater.

HERE'S SANTA! . . . Suzy Heer participates in the Junior-Senior Talent Assembly under the direction of the dramatics department.

YOU DID ALL THIS TO DECEIVE ME . . . A tense moment is revealed in the faces of Sharon Smith and Laura Rogers as they portray a scene from "The Glass Menagerie" during a duet acting assignment.

Debate-Speech Squad Prove Competitors

Glendale's first debate and speech squad, largely made up of sophomores and juniors, has proved to be a strong competitor and frequent winner. The squad has made one of the best beginnings for a new school in this area.

Among the squad's honors are an accumulated 18 first place trophies, three sweepstake trophies, and an average in debate of at least 2 out of 3 wins.

The good balance shown by the squad offers great promise for the future.

School Functions

Under the direction of Mrs. Mary Ruth Hall, the choir performed for the District Teachers Convention at Southwest Missouri State College, a Christmas P.T.A. program, and at several public concerts, and student body assemblies.

Members of the sophomore choir studied the fundamentals of music, ways to improve oral expression through improved diction, breath control, and the correct production of tones.

Glendale's madrigal singers used sixteenth century style music containing many melodies and no accompaniment. They participated in the Spring Music festival, in school assemblies, and in a number of community programs.

OH, FOR A LIFE OF EASE . . . Nancy Woolsey contemplates the work ahead as she remembers the few mornings of late sleep.

LULLABY AND GOODNIGHT . . . These sleepy Scotties are busy "sawing logs" on the return trip from Columbia, Missouri where they performed at a football half time.

SING ALONG WITH THE SCOTTIES . . . Mastering the Scottie song is a fulltime job for the girls as they practice diligently on the Columbia bus trip.

Lost uniforms; late drums; the first parade and performance; tiring, but fun trips; dancing the Fling; the Junior-Senior Banquet; and many new and exciting experiences are the memories a Glengarry Scot will always hold.

The Scotties, as they were known throughout the school, began traditions to be followed by Scotties of the future.

Sponsored by Miss Margaret Fallin and led by Majorette Nan Bennett, the Scotties marched to the cheers of the students and faculty at football and basketball games; the Scottie and Band Concert; and the pep assemblies.

The Scots ended their first year with the words from the Scottie song written by Jan Jones to the accompaniment of "Loch Lomond":

A Glengarry Scot I will first and always be
Though my path takes me far from my sisters.
I know in my heart that we will never part
For a Scottie is a Scottie forever.

The pep club helps promote school spirit, and under the sponsorship of Miss Jo Plank, Miss Carmen Pyles, and Mrs. Beverly Aton, it can be said the pep club has had a successful first year.

Club members earned points by making "spirit boosting" posters. The number of points depended upon the quality of the posters. They also earned points for attending games. A designated number of points had to be earned before a girl could try out for cheerleader. This club was opened to all high school girls.

Bob,

I wish we could of had some classes together this year, I hope we have some next year. This year has been so much fun, I'll never forget being a freshman and a T Φ pledge.

You're really a cool guy and I can hardly wait till we go together. (JOKE)

I hope I get to see you alot this summer.

Your friend always,
Melinda Kaiser

Hi Bob!
It's been a blast
this year in all of my classes with you. In my opinion your still the guy for President. You're a real sharp guy. You're real sweet too. I hope we will be friends for many years to come. Have a wonderful summer. Together
I hope you and Teresa go for a long time. Stay like you are forever.

Lots O Luck in the future

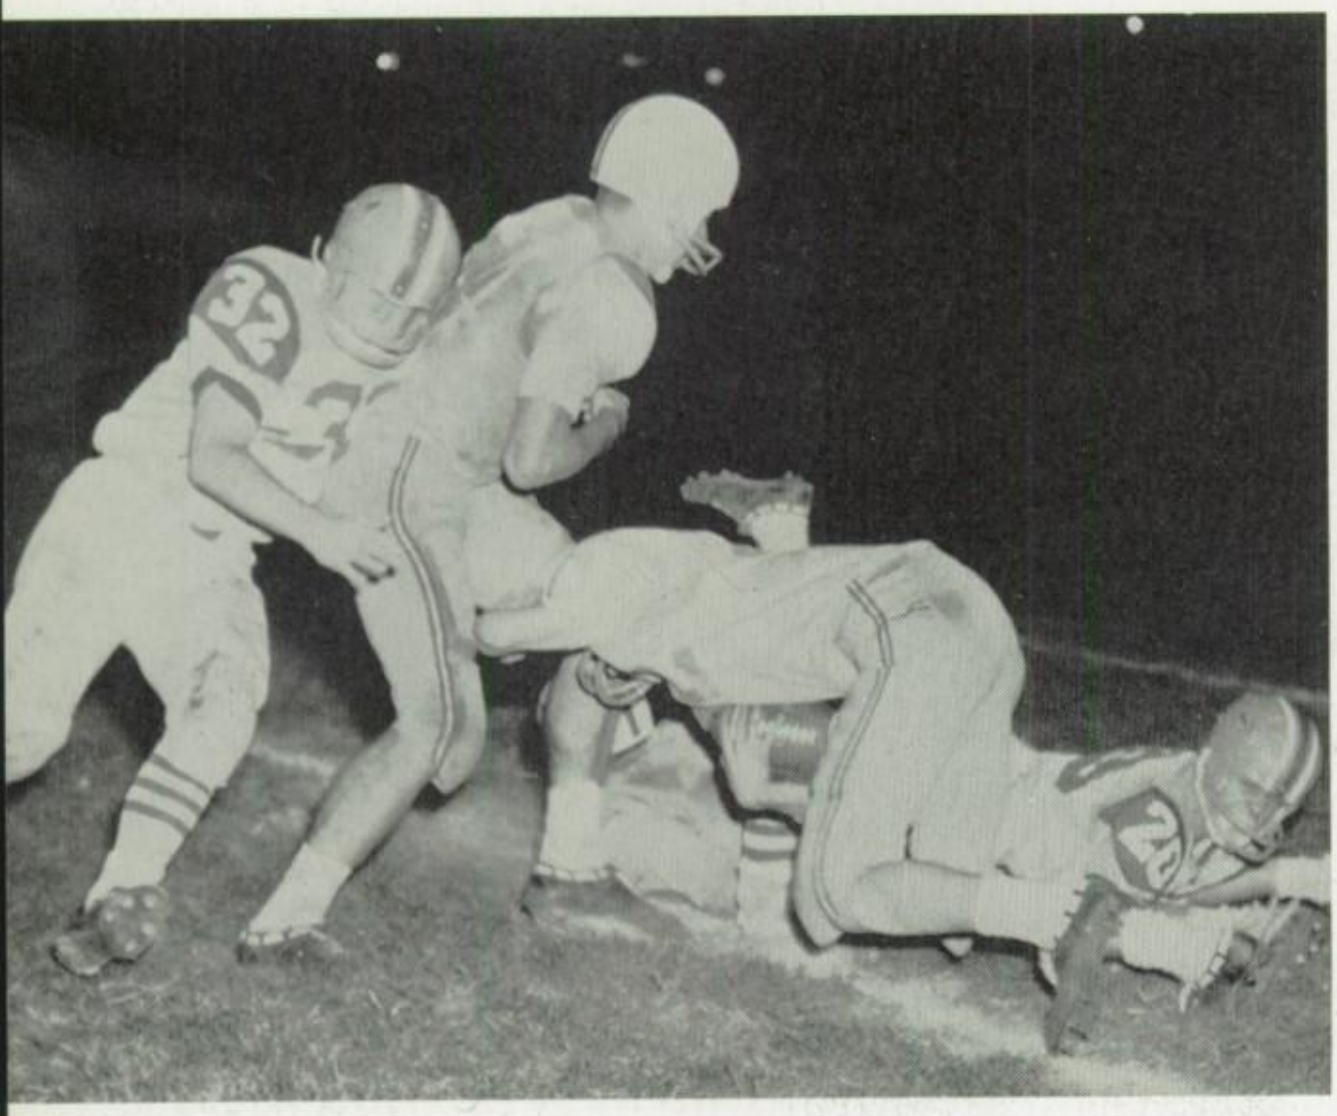
SPORTS

Falcons Complete First Season



BACKFIELD IN MOTION . . . Steve Byars (no. 32) moves over to help, but Don Grove (no. 20) already has his man. The action took place in Jefferson City as Glendale bowed to Helias 20-12.

The 1963 Falcons got Glendale off to a flying start in football as they posted a 6-4 record in their first season.

The Falcons scored a total of 205 points in ten games while the defense allowed only 126 points.

Highlights of the '63 season included upsetting St. Joseph Central for a Falcon Festival victory, defeating Parkview, and winning the final two games of the season. The Falcons played better against non-conference foes as they won four out of five non-conference games.

Glendale finished in a tie for third place in the Ozark Conference with a 2-3 record. Carl Soltys, senior, and Charles Helfrecht, junior, were named to the All-Conference first teams. Tom Samsel, senior, and Steve Byars, junior, were named to the second team. Samsel and Byars were named to the All-Ozark second team, while Soltys, Sam Wittmer, and Helfrecht received honorable mention.

COACHING STAFF . . . Guiding the 1963 Glendale football teams through their first season have heen head coach Bob Lechner, B coaches Bob Price and Sonny Stringer, assistant varsity coach Don Provance, and freshman coach Bill Bayless.

With 6-4 Record

HURRY, GREG . . . Greg Daugherty (no. 11) turns the corner and heads down field with a Jefferson Helias defender not far behind. The Crusaders won over the Falcon's 20-12 in the game played at Jefferson City.

NOT ANOTHER FUMBLE . . . Coach Bob Lechner grimaces during the Jefferson City Helias game in which the Falcons fumbled ten times and lost 20-12. Also in the picture is Bill Sutherland (no. 10).

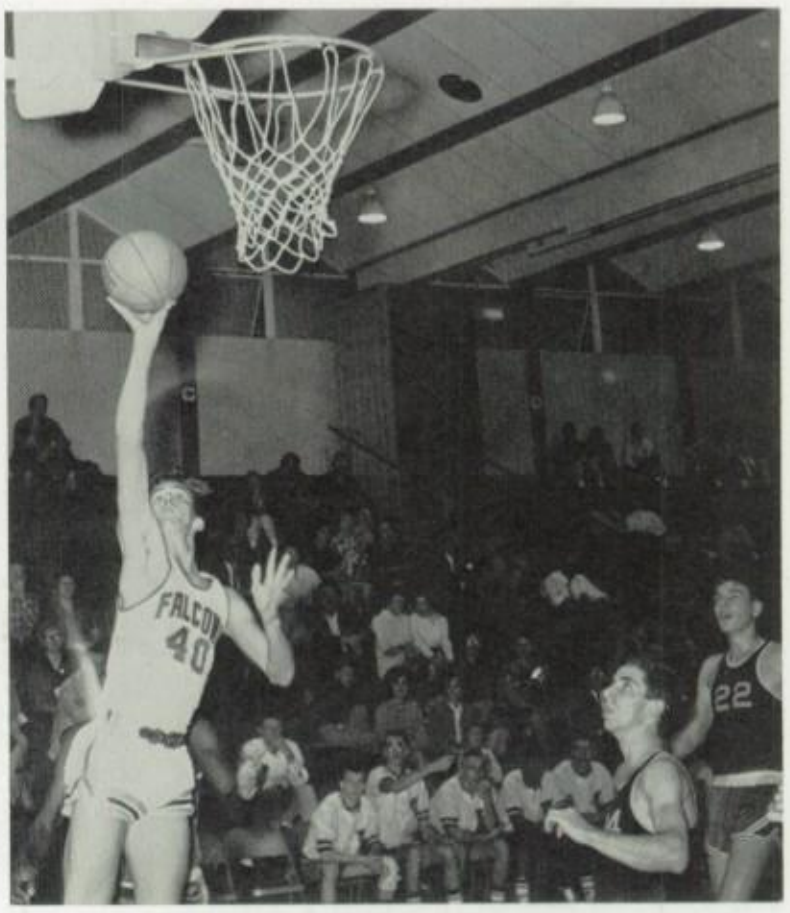
Glendale's Falcons took third place in the Mountain Grove Class L regional tournament to highlight the 1963-64 season. Their 12-12 record belies the quality of basketball they played as the Falcons were not outclassed by any team, despite having a definite height disadvantage with their tallest man being 6' 2". The small, scrappy Falcons got off to a slow start but finished with a flourish as they won six of their last nine games. With only one starter and two squad members being seniors, the Falcons converted what was at first considered to be a "building" year into a successful campaign under the leadership of Coach Jack Roberts.

FIRING AWAY . . . Tim Burrows, junior forward, fires in two of his seventeen points against the St. Agnes Irish. Glendale won the Tournament of Champions game 65-55 to take third place behind Joplin and Parkview. The Falcons defeated Central 70-47 in the opening round of the tournament and then lost to Joplin 72-61 the next night.

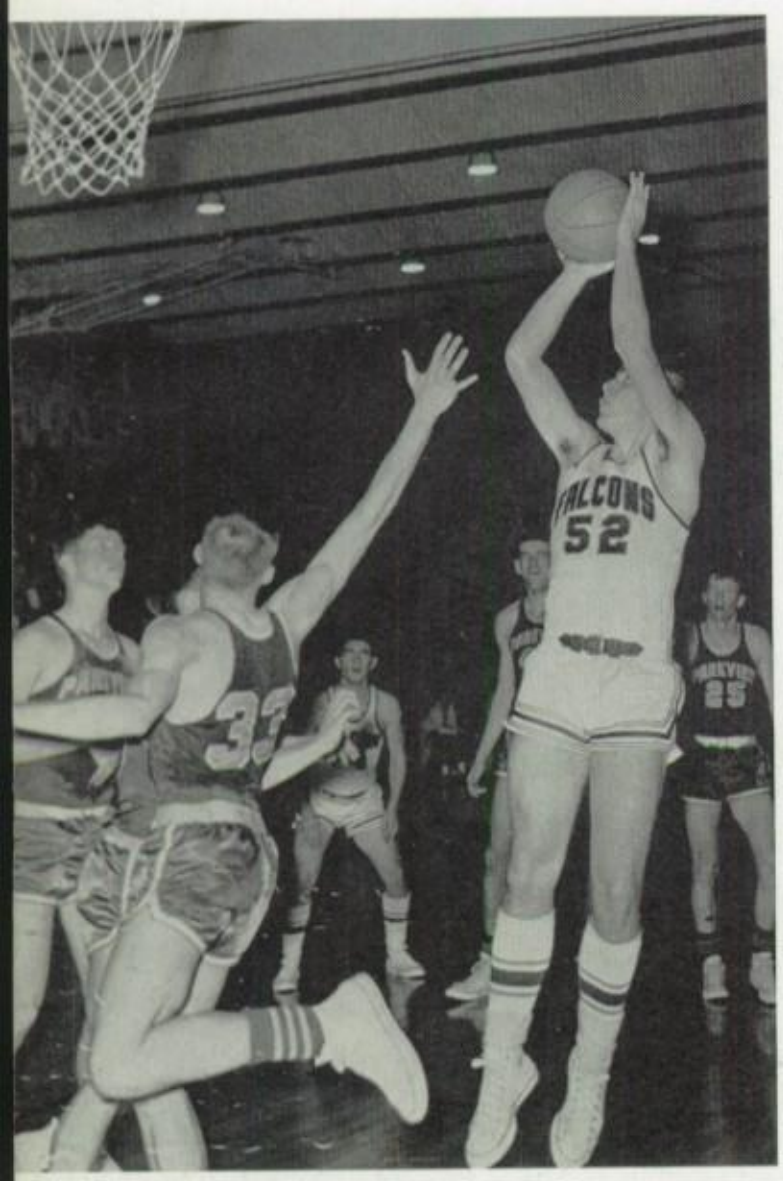
DRIVING LAYUP . . . Gary Turner, senior guard, drives through the Fayetteville Bulldog defense for a pair of points. The 62-53 home court victory avenged an early season loss to the Bulldogs in Fayetteville 57-50.

3rd In Regional

UP IN THE AIR . . . Bryan Magers, junior guard, jumps high as he shoots over the out-stretched hand of a St. Agnes defender. The Falcons won the game 65-55 to take third in the Tournament of Champions played at Parkview.



FAST BREAK . . . Steve Pitner, senior forward, leads a fast break down court against the Fayetteville Bulldogs and scores. The Falcons won the game played at Glendale to avenge an earlier loss to the Bulldogs as they outscored Fayetteville 62-53.



I GOT IT . . . Scott Bradley, junior center, shoots after faking his Parkview defender out of position, but these two points weren't enough as the Vikings rolled by the Falcons 86-55.

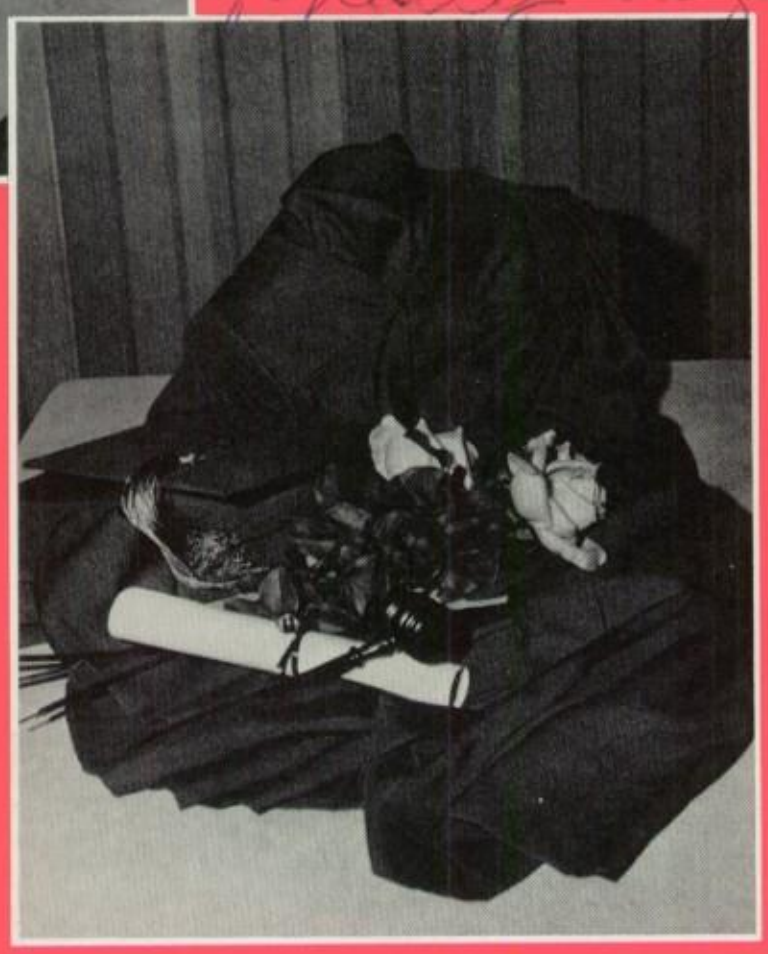
GERRY AND SHERRY . . . Gerry Perry and his sister Sherry prepare for the 1964 tennis season with an early season practice on Glendale's new asphalt tennis court. Gerry is a junior this year while Sherry is a freshman.



Dear Bob

Well I hope you settle this little (or big) problem. don't worry about it.

It sure has been a lot of fun seeing you this year even though I haven't seen you very much.

I'm awful glad we're finally ~~[illegible]~~ actives.

Learn this pen.

Sorry!

Bob,

I really have enjoyed being in class with you this year. You're a great guy. Nurse change. I hope you are always as nice as you are now. Good luck now and in the future, and have a real nice summer. May you always have the best of luck and may all your misfortunes be small ones.

Good luck always,

Bob (dear)
It was nice seeing you this year again. Please excuse my terrible writing (you'll need it)
Have a great Summer
Wish you all the best in the World.
Love Dawna

CLASSES

Seniors Of '64

A DRIVE INTO THE FUTURE . . . Leading the senior class of '64 toward the days of tomorrow are Steve Aliber, president; Sheila Patterson, secretary; and Don Buchholz, vice-president.

The Senior Class of '64 will have many memories of "their" year, for in this school year Glendale became a part of each senior.

They have witnessed all the fledgling flutterings of a new school. They saw Freddie the Falcon grow from an inexperienced young bird to an outstanding specimen of the high schools of America.

Flying starts were common to Glendale's seniors as they made numerous contributions to Student Council, sports, academic, and social activities. In so doing, they have established traditions that will challenge future senior classes.

Seniors with their enthusiasm bubbling over have repeatedly spurred the Falcons on to victories. No senior will forget the excitement of the Falcon Festival, election of class and student body officers, grades, class rings, plays, and the athletic events.

Before the seniors realized it, the Senior Prom, Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises concluded their high school flight. Thus, the Senior Class received the unique distinction of becoming the first graduating class of Glendale.

The '64 seniors will now leave their Glendale nest and soar their separate ways into the world.

Juniors Look To The Future

STEPPING UP . . . Elected by the junior class to set the pace were Kay Knudson, secretary; Suzy Heer, vice-president; John Weston, president.

Glendale juniors have finished the third lap of the race. The past three laps have been the pacesetters. They qualified for participation in the upperclass activities, the Scotties, Junior Varsity and Varsity teams, Student Council, dramatic presentations, and competitive public speaking events.

The runners are now grateful for the ground they have covered, the training received, and the help of their coaches. They are now in top condition for the dash to the finish line.

As the gun in a race is a signal to all other runners that the leader has started the last lap, so will September be a signal to the juniors that their final sprint is beginning.

"POOR LITTLE NELL" . . . The quartet composed of Carol Handley, Jeannie Mills, Donna Dushko, and Jurahee Lain describe what happens to Little Nell when she meets a villain. The number was given in the Junior-Senior Talent Assembly.

STRAIGHT AHEAD . . . Secretary Margaret Walker, directed by President Dale Tilton and Vice-President Debbie Gardner, steers the course for the sophomore class.

The sophomore class can be aptly compared to a play. The second act is ending. As the scenes unfold, we see the plot has thickened considerably.

As Act II closes, the action has increased. To the sophomore, it includes now a new sense of responsibility.

The climax to the act was the thrill of an eagerly awaited drivers' license. New faces appeared on the pep squads and Varsity and Junior Varsity teams. Campus life became not only the struggle for knowledge, but also the center of activity for sophomores interested in Student Council, sports, clubs, Sophomore Choir, and other social functions.

Already the curtain is rising on the third act. Now, on with the play!

Like Freddy the Falcon, Glendale's freshman class was young and inexperienced.

In true Falcon spirit, the freshmen fluttered their wings, at first feebly, and then with growing strength, until they were able to take flight, and soar through the academic program and activities of the school.

Now, with the end of the first year, Glendale's freshmen find that they, like the school itself, have grown strong and sure. Next year will find them assuming leadership and providing help for another class of Freddy's freshmen. This leadership will grow until the present class will graduate in 1967 with the honor of being the first four-year class to graduate from Glendale High School.

STEPPING OUT . . . Ready to lead the freshmen during their first important year of high school are Cathy Cox, vice-president; Bill Helfrecht, president; and Susan Simon, secretary.

"And so, my fellow Americans, ask not what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country."

In Memoriam

Billy Jack Ross
Born, January 3, 1944
Died, March 28, 1964

THIS IS GLENDALE . . . Mr. James Ford shows Dr. Adolph Unruh, chairman of the visiting committee of the North Central Association, through the school.

LOOK ALIVE . . . These students find a moment of fun before the tardy bell rings.

HEY, THAT TICKLES . . . It appears Bill Avery and John Harbin will do anything to promote yearbook sales.

Below, is a typical class before an assembly.

OH, YOU DOLL . . . These Falcon Festival attendants laugh and groan as they receive the proofs of their picture to be used in the yearbook.

Next year, well just have to sing a duet when we run for office. Okay? Maybe we'd get it then! Seriously, I've had a real this year, and I'm so glad we had classes together! I hope we do next year. Well have a ball this summer with our pledges at Twin Oaks! And I hope we're great friends again next year, and have classes together. I'm very glad we've been good friends!
Love ya,
Ruth Ann Weaver

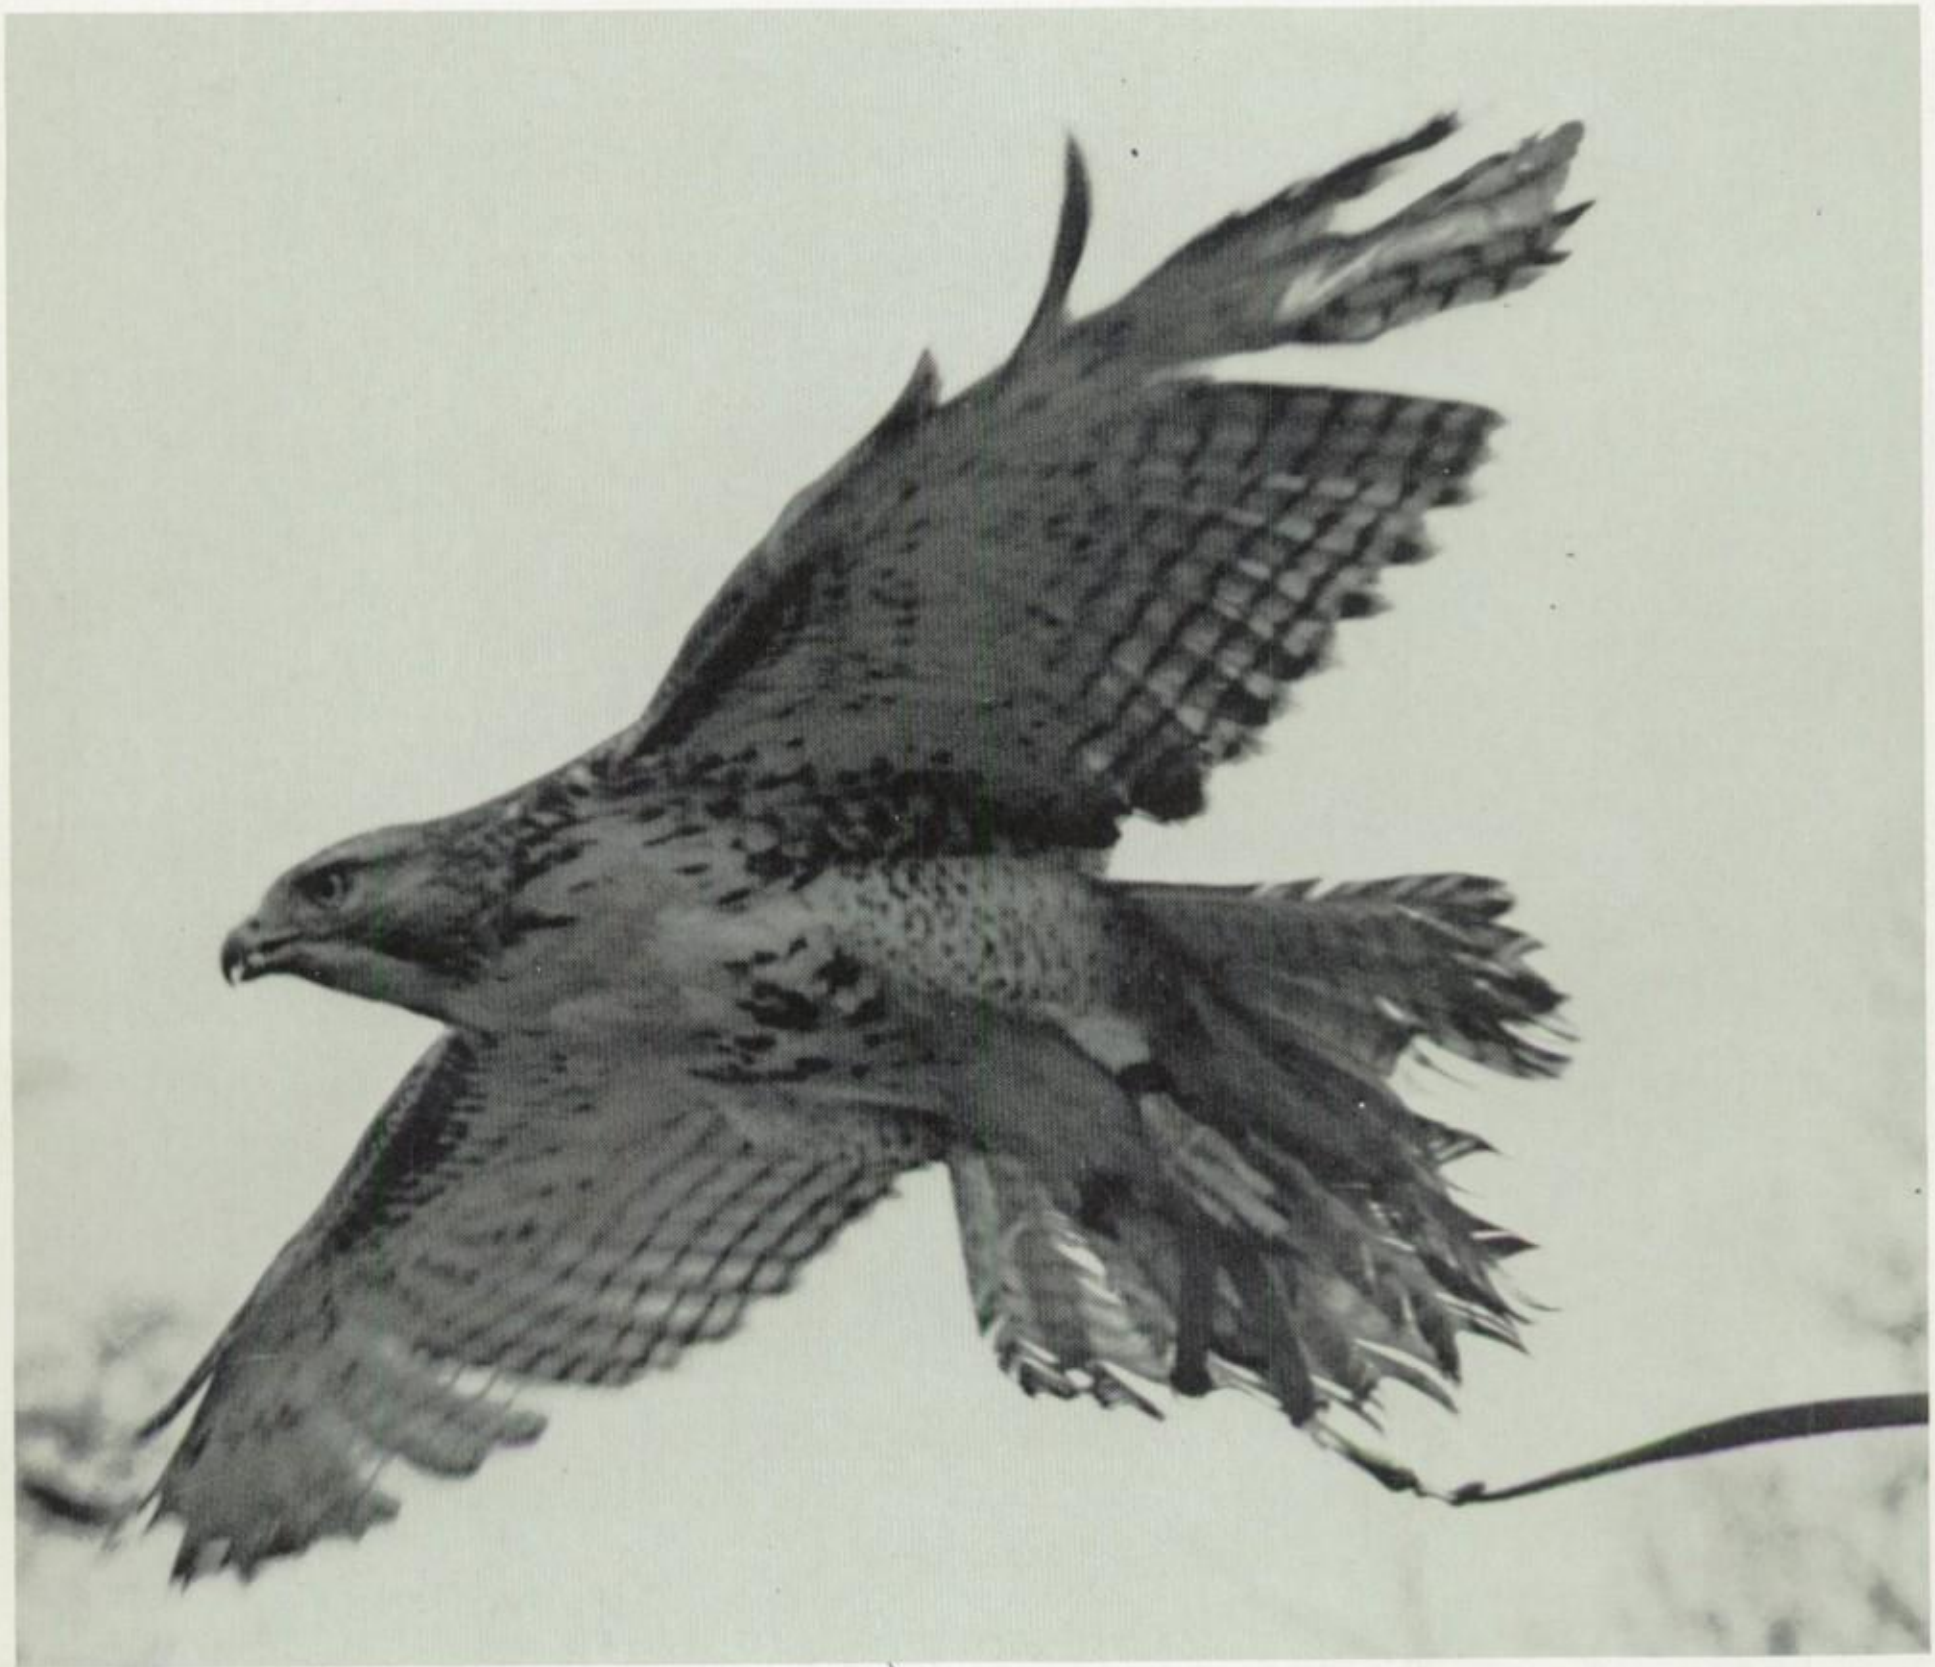
Sally, Sorry about the mix-up. Hope you had a good summer. Let's make this year a great one. Love ya, Gayle

Bob,
It has been so much fun being in biology with you. You have a great personality that lets everyone like you. Good luck always and I'll see you next year.
Rita Kneedler

As the Falcon flies, so does time. Realizing that the first year of Glendale can never be lived again; we, the yearbook staff, have attempted to recapture some of your memories.

As you have turned the pages, may a smile, a tear, a laugh, or a warm thought have been yours.



Bob,
I've had a good time this year and I hope you have too. I've enjoyed making all A's in Algebra & Biology (cough) I hope they weren't too rough on you as a pledge this year. I know you'll have a lot of fun this summer and I hope you do the rest of your life.
Wayne Kinser

We would like to express our appreciation to Mrs. Virginia Woodring, city-wide journalism coordinator; the departmental coordinators; the club sponsors; our staff photographers, Nancy Shaw, Don Delo; Opal Williams, photographer; and Mrs. Charlotte Ellis, journalism teacher, who has given us backing when the going was rough, suffered our miseries, and celebrated our joys.

The cooperation of the entire faculty and administration has enabled us to present to you the first FALCON.

The editors . . . Roberta Gentry and Sharon Cobb

Bob,
This has been a hell of a year in algebra and Acorns giving the actives a hard time. Don't be too rough on the pledges this year. Ha! Good luck, Robbie Voss "Acorns"

Bob,
It's been a hard year but most of it's been made a lot of easier by friendships like yours. Keep up the good work. Ha! Ha!
Steve

Bob -
It's been really nice knowing you this year & I hope to see you sometime next year. I hope you decide to run for office again next year. With your personality I'm sure you could win. Best Wishes,
Patty Edwards

Bob
I just want to let ya know that I think your a swell ——— of a good guy and I wishing for you the best of luck in the tommorrows

Bob
It's been many fun this year and well, your a great guy. Hope I see you this summer (if not please). Perhaps will have some classes together next year.
Lots of Luck, Gary Love

Dearest Bob
you know how it was the first time you saw me in the Drive In & how you love me? Well it's the same way now XXXX
Bob - I don't know what to say. Because I will see you a lot at Jim Ogle's and will go to the lake pick a bit. Well goodbye for now. Love Ever Yours Gary

Bob,
It's been a lot of fun having you in some of my classes. I hope your in my classes next year. Hope I see you this summer. Enjoy your summer and I'll see you next year
Roland Shelly

Bob -
You are one of the swellest guys I've met this year & Best of everything
Theresa Johnson
You really deserve it!

Bob,
It has been fun knowing you. We have had some disgusting moments but we have almost struggled through it. It's been a real experience.
Sharon Sorter

Bob -
We sure had some trying times, living through Mrs. Copsey's class but, well we've almost made it.
Best wishes
Cathy Cloud

Bob,
It's been fun as a blast. I'll miss you & I wish you the best of luck in the future.
Richard Dees

Bob
It's been great knowing you these last years. Good fuck and much success in the years to come.
